Scott Vecchi

Scott M. Vecchi, Esq. is a candidate for Charter Commission in the May 15 town election. He is currently an elected commissioner for the Plymouth Redevelopment Authority, and an appointed member of the Plymouth Historical District Commission and was a member of the last Charter Review Committee.

Scott was born and raised in Plymouth and is a descendant of the original Pilgrims as well as a member of both the Mayflower and Alden societies.

Scott is a licensed attorney admitted to practice before Massachusetts state courts, in the 1st Federal District of Massachusetts, and before the United States Supreme Court.

He is a retired gunnery sergeant USMC and disabled veteran of Fallujah, Iraq.

Scott has 29 years of police and corrections experience and is currently employed by the Plymouth Police Department as a Sergeant.

As the owner of Mayflower Taxi for 11 years, a local small business closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic, he has real world experience in budgeting, payroll, and workers compensation claims as well as the struggles of local businesses in these difficult times.

“During the last Charter Review Committee, we sought out community participation and input which was the foundation of our review. Having current and past local elected leaders and stakeholders within the community provide us with guidance on what direction they wanted us to pursue relative to the current Town Charter shaped our approach, and then we went through the charter line by line in a meticulous process to determine where change was needed.”
“We made many proposals to Town Meeting on how to streamline the governmental process and make it more efficient, however many of these important changes were not adopted by the Town Meeting members.”

“I believe that this Charter Commission should begin with the same approach of listening, and community involvement to determine the course it should take. We should represent the will of the citizens of Plymouth as a whole, not the loudest or most vocal. As an elected Charter Commission member, I will put the needs of the town and the best interests of all of its citizens first and foremost.”
